Merits of effective Comm
• Improved Productivity & Efficiency
• Enhanced Employee Engagement & morale
• Better Decision Making
• Reduced costs & Improved Teamwork

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT (MODULAR)
PROJECT MANAGEMENT(MODULAR)
COMPUTER SCIENCE (MODULAR)
HUMAN RESOURCE (CBET)
SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT(CDACC)
PROJECT MANAGEMENT (CDACC)
FINANCIAL SALES SERVICES(CDACC)
LIBRARY SCIENCE(CDACC)
BUSINESS MANAGEMENT(CDACC)
BUSINESS MANAGEMENT(CDACC)
LEVEL 5&6

BUSINESS COMMUNICATION/ COMMUNICATION SKILLS/ IT SKILLS
1 1/2 HOURS
JULY 2025

JKUAT TVET INSTITUTE – KAREN CAMPUS
WRITTEN ASSESSMENT
CAT 1

Answer all questions.

1. As a profession in your area of specialization outline FIVE merits of effective communication in your organization. (5mks)
2. You have been assigned to choose channel of communication in your organization outline any FIVE channels you would choose. (5mks)
3. Akili Bora enterprise integrated mobile technology into its business practices. Clarify the advantages of embracing this technology by explaining FIVE key benefits. (5 Marks)
4. As communication skill student define and give examples of both verbal and non-verbal communication. (5mks)

SECTION B (30 Marks)

5 Jamii enterprise is an upcoming organization that what to penetrate in the market effectively and win new and more customers in the market. As a professional explain the following so as to help the management to understand on how they will achieve the above.

a) Explain FIVE principles of effective communication that the organization can use to make sure there is effective communication within the organization and external entities. (10 Mks)

b) Explain FIVE ethical issues to focus on to make sure they win the trust of their customers. (10Mks)

c) Discuss FIVE importance of office etiquette. (10mks)

34/50

Communication Skills

JKUAT CONTINOUS ASSESSEMENT TESTS

NAME KAKIRA JOSHUA NYAGA TVET

REG NO TDC 113-(002-0028)/2024

COURSE Computer Science YEAR OF STUDY 1

SHEET NO

UNIT CODE TITLE IT COMMUNICATION SKILLS

DATE 2/7/2025

NOTE: This stationery will be used for Continuous Assessment work only.

It will be a breach of examination regulations to use it otherwise.

SECTION A

1. Merits of Effective Communication in your Organisation

i) Openeness - This ensures that everyone in the organization is able to express his feelings openly to one another or to the person whom you trust.

ii) Moral - Communication creates good moral especially when encouraging an individual hence creating a good mood.

iii) Dialogue - This a communication between two or more individuals hence it ensures they share feeling to another and ideas of how they feel

iv) Decision making - Communication it ensures individuals are able to make positive decisions and better routine.

v) Trust and Credibility - Communication between two or more individuals it ensures partners they are able to build trust to one another.

4

2. Channels of Communication

1. Social media eg WhatsApp, Facebook and Twitter
2. Mass media eg Emails
3. Visual Communication eg Use of charts, Magazines, Journals
4. Audio Visual Communication eg Television, Radio and Phones
5. Anonymous Platform where they can share their feedback.

4

8

3. Advantages of Mobile technology

i) Speed - Mobile technology ensures information is sent faster hence saving time

ii) Record - Mobile technology it also ensures meaningful information is kept for future reference

5

iii) Distance barriers - Mobile technology has reduced distance bariers whereby individuals of far distance can communicate to one another and share their information.

iv) Feedback - Mobile technology it has enhanced feedback platform where the receiver of the information can respond quickly.

v) Cost effectiveness - Mobile technology has become cheap by reducing the cost of travelling to an individual inorder to deliver information

4) Verbal communication refers to the process in which a person takes an action to deliver information or messages to the audience or someone example is writting, talking

2

3

Non verbal communication refers to the actions in which a person is using to ensure the communication is effective an example is use of body movements, maintaining eye contact and ensuring he/she is well groomed.

2

5

SECTION B

5a) Principles Of Effective Communication.

i) ~~Clarity~~

ii) Clarity - The organization has to ensure the is clear for the employees to understand

iii) Completeness - The organization has to ensure the information is accurate with the correct spelling and grammar.

iv) Coherence - The organization has to ensure the ~~communication~~ information is logic to foster good communication with the clients and employees

v) Courtesy - The organization has to ~~the~~ ensure the information is respectful for smooth running of the organization.

vi) Concreteness - The organization has to ensure the information is arranged in the correct format that is use of clear language and proper numbering.

b) Credibility - The can promote ~~cred~~ trust by adding a discount ~~customers~~ to their customers in the products they buy.

- Quality The organization has to ensure the products they are selling is of good quality inorder attract their customers.
- Etiquette The organization has to ensure that the communicate with good etiquette that creates much trust to their customers.
- Offering free delivery services like delivering their products to where they are at home safely.
- Ensuring the environment is clean and conducive for them to be attracted.

c) Importance of Etiquette

1. Respect - It ensures that there is respect between employees and employers
2. Smoothness - It ensures ~~at~~ all the activities are running smoothly without conditions
3. Honest - It ensures there is honesty and between the clients and the employees
4. Trust - It promotes better trust between the employer and the employees
5. Carage - It creates courage and confidence ~~to the clients~~ between the employer and the employee.

18